

Every Thursday morning, Randy Goruk sends a Leadership Tip of the Week by email to his distribution list.

The brief email message is intended to assist with the leadership development of the recipient by providing useful advice that can be acted on immediately.

"Sample"

Leadership Tip of the Week

With the results of the January close at hand, ask yourself and key members of your team these 3 - questions ;

1. If we had the chance to do January over, what 3 - things would we have done differently to achieve better results ?
2. What are the 3 - things that could prevent us from achieving our goals for the next six months ?
3. Are you spending your time on the things that will deliver optimal results ?

Challenging yourself and your team with tough questions will keep you on top of your business and increase the probability of success - provided you take appropriate action.

Here is what recipients have to say:

"Randy, Thanks for the tips. They are quick reads and provoke thought."

Tawn Simons, Mgr. New Product Development, Simpson Strong-Tie

"As A CEO and Leader you caught my interest and I must say well done !"

Lori Devore, President / CEO, DeVore Technologies
